Pickering Retires

by Justin Tierney

Pickering will now focus his attention on fundraising for the new Lincoln Center, which will be the new home for Lincoln College indoor athletics and the Lincoln Museum.

After 36 years of service and dedication to Lincoln College, Allen Pickering resigned, effective January 1, 2007. Pickering held the offices of Vice President for College Relations and Student Services and Athletic Director at the time of his resignation.

During his time at Lincoln College, Pickering helped the school's athletic department grow from offering three sports in 1970 to 19 in 2007. He had been the school's Athletic Director since 1986.

"When I first started in 1970, we had baseball, basketball and swimming," said Pickering. "We had other sports off and on, but never with any consistency. Now we have 19 total sports for men and women. Athletics has been improved. I think now, in every sport, we're respected."

"We have a top ten men's basketball program in the nation, a top two or three swimming program in the nation, a top ten wrestling program in the nation. Our women's basketball team has been nationally recognized for academics, and so has our swimming team. It's been a fun thing to be a part of and to watch grow."

"The timing was right (to step down). I've been there for 36 years, and it's time to do something else. The leadership will be strong with (former swimming coach) Dan Hemenway taking over as athletic director, and it gives me the chance to do some of the other things I'm interested in."

A native of Lexington, Illinois, Pickering played college basketball at Illinois State University. He first came

University Hall Fire

The oldest and most recognizable building on the campus of Lincoln College was saved from being destroyed by fire because of the quick response of two Lincoln residents. Shortly after 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 11, Bonita Peters was walking her dog on campus and noticed smoke coming from the first floor of University Hall. She alerted Jim Sparrow, who lives near the College, that it looked like a fire. He called 911. About 30 firefighters from the area responded to the call. Fortunately, no one was in the building at the time of the blaze. The fire started in a front lounge on the southwest corner of the historic building. Firefighters extinguished the flames before they spread too far from the origin. Lincoln Fire Chief Jim Davis said electricity was to blame for starting the fire. "We don't know if it was the air conditioner or the (electrical) box where it was plugged into," said Davis. The fire caused at least $50,000 damage. Contractors are currently working to repair the damage and should be finished by May.

to Lincoln in 1964 to do his student teaching as part of his college studies.

"John Swart was the one who brought me to the area," says Pickering. "He graduated from Hartsburg-Emden High School and Lincoln College. He knew the basketball coach at Lincoln College at the time, who was Norm Kaye."

"One night, I went to the gym - which was the same way then as it is now - and met with Coach Kaye, and he offered me a place to stay while I was here. That was my first introduction to Lincoln and Lincoln College."

Six years later, in 1970, Pickering accepted a faculty position at Lincoln College, where he would teach physical education, and serve as a volunteer assistant coach for baseball and basketball. The next year, he became the head basketball coach.

"The very first year was one of the most successful teams I ever had," says

A Message From the President

FROM TIME-TO-TIME COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES MUST ENGAGE IN LONG-RANGE VISIONING AND STRATEGIC PLANNING. LINCOLN COLLEGE – NORMAL COMPLETED SUCH A PROCESS LAST FALL AND THE OUTCOME OF THIS EFFORT HAS BROUGHT NEW EXCITEMENT AND ENTHUSIASM TO THAT CAMPUS. THE TIME HAS ALSO COME FOR LINCOLN COLLEGE – LINCOLN TO UNDERTAKE A SIMILAR VISIONING EFFORT.

President Hutchinson

LINCOLN COLLEGE - LINCOLN LAUNCHES STRATEGIC VISIONING PROCESS

During the Fall, 2006 semester, representatives of all sectors of the campus community, Trustees, and community leaders were involved in very aggressive programming for the future. The effort has been led by Dr. Gary Davis of Lincoln who is the former chief executive officer of the Illinois Community College Board Association. He is a nationally recognized expert in Board development and institutional planning. To date, the planning group has developed a new vision for the future, refreshed the mission for the campus, and developed a set of ambitious goals for the future. The plan will be presented to the Board of Trustees for general approval in their February semi-annual meeting.

If approved, the planning group will develop specific and measurable objectives to meet the established goals. This has been an extraordinarily exciting and energizing effort for all involved.

Strategic Planning Goals

Lincoln College plans to offer:

1. A program to help faculty and staff understand how today's students learn.
2. A new curriculum to engage students and to improve their chances for educational, personal, and professional success.
3. An effective retention program.
4. A stronger financial position for the College.
5. Upgraded physical facilities.
6. Implementation of an effective external and internal communication program.

Provisionally, the vision statement reads as follows: By 2012, Lincoln College will be recognized as uniquely student-focused, innovative, and entrepreneurial. Lincoln College will offer a campus community that engages students with opportunities for educational, personal, and professional success.

The mission statement, which is to be short, pithy, and for public use, is: Lincoln College uniquely empowers students to realize their full potential.

Pickering. "We had a kid by the name of Lloyd Nolan, who was a great player. We had John Campbell, who is still the second all-time leading scorer in school history and Dennis Werth, who went on to play baseball with the New York Yankees."

Pickering would go on to win various awards and championships. In 16 years as the head men's coach, he had 15 winning seasons, ranking first all-time in wins among men's basketball coaches at Lincoln College, compiling a career record of 368-155. During that time, he won seven regional championships. He's also a member of the Illinois Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame, and the Illinois State University Hall of Fame.

In 1981, Pickering's Lynx squad finished second in the nation in the NJCAA Division I National Tournament, the highest finish in school history. He was also named the NJCAA's Division I Coach of the Year. Later that year, at the Sports Festival in Syracuse, New York, Pickering served as an assistant coach to Lute Olsen on a team that included Doc Rivers and Derek Harper.

Pickering remembers recruiting as one of the aspects of college coaching that he enjoyed the most. Kevin Gamble, who would go on to play 10 years in the NBA, is one of Pickering's favorite recruiting stories.

"I talked to him in his home for half an hour, maybe more," says Pickering. "And all I talked about was school- what classes he could take, and what would be expected of him academically. And on my way out the door, I said, 'By the way, we also have a basketball team.'"

Pickering has also seen his own two children participate in Lincoln College athletics. Daughter Lyndsey was a member of the Lady Lynx soccer team, while son David was a member of last season's Lynx men's basketball squad that qualified for the NJCAA National Tournament.

Pickering will now focus his attention on fund raising for the new Lincoln Center. The building will seat around 1,300 and will also house the college's museum.

Justin Tierney, a 2006 graduate of Lincoln College, is a junior at Elmhurst College studying journalism.

Alumni Reunion 2007

ATTENTION ALL LINCOLN COLLEGE STUDENTS
 Mark your calendar for Reunion 2007. Friday, April 27 through Sunday, April 29, Lincoln College will celebrate reunion years for all members who are a part of classes ending in a 2 or 7. So, come back to campus classes of 1932, 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, 1972, 1977, 1982, 1987, 1992, 1997, and 2002. Don't worry, if this isn't your anniversary year, you can still come to reminisce and relive the memories. Members of all graduating classes will be recognized during the Alumni Dinner and Awards Program on Saturday, April 29. Individuals in attendance who are celebrating their 25th or 50th reunion will receive the Swarovski crystal Lincoln College Alumni pin.

A group from Reunion 2006 tour the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Museum in Springfield, IL.

Film Producer Receives Alumni Award

Bruce A. Block, class of 1968, will receive this year's Distinguished Alumni Award. Currently living in Los Angeles, CA, Block will be visiting campus during Reunion Weekend to present a lecture on film and cinema studies and what it's really like working in Hollywood. Block's recent movie producing credits include The Holiday, Christmas with the Kranks, Something's Gotta Give, America's Sweethearts, and What Women Want. Honorary Alumni and Alumni Achievement Awards will also be presented during Reunion 2007. Recipients will be announced in early March.

JUDD Tusk Unveiling

Over 100 people were in attendance for the unveiling ceremony of the tusk and tooth of JUDD, the woolly mammoth, at the McKinstry Memorial Library on Saturday, October 28, 2006. This exhibit is on display indefinitely. In September 2005, freshman Judd McCullum discovered a tusk of a woolly mammoth in Sugar Creek near the Lincoln College campus during an environmental biology field trip. Three months later, Lincoln College Professor Dr. Dennis Campbell found a third molar which supported the theories of the first find. The tusk is 12-foot-long and is the largest mammoth tusk ever found in Illinois. It is possibly the largest woolly mammoth tusk ever found in North America. Tests on the tusk revealed that this was likely a male woolly mammoth that was 50 years old, stood 10-11 feet tall, weighed 6-7 tons, and lived over 11,600 years ago - a surprisingly recent time for mammoth existence.

Florence Adams Dooley Remembered

Florence Adams Dooley, former Director of Admissions and wife of Lincoln College President Dr. Raymond Dooley, died after a brief hospitalization on November 12, 2006. She was 93. Mrs. Dooley received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Illinois in 1936. She worked in the fashion industry in Champaign, IL before finding her real niche in academia. In 1943 she began her career in academic admissions counseling, a job which involved an abundance of travel. During a business trip, she met Raymond Dooley whom she married on April 2, 1947. As newlyweds, the Dooleys moved to Lincoln, IL where he became Lincoln College's 15th President, a post he kept for 22 years, until his retirement in 1971. Speaking of his family, President Dooley once said that "Florence and Lincoln were the saving of our lives." During their tenure, the Dooleys made a remarkable impact on Lincoln College. According to the August 1970 issue of "The Lincoln Log," during President Dooley's administration "the student body...increased some 600 percent...The school's physical plant (was) improved with the addition of five new residence halls, Harts Science Building, Scully Natatorium, McKinstry Memorial Library and the (new) Student Center and Student Services Buildings. Bids for an eleventh new structure, the Johnston Fine Arts Center, were received on June 25, 1970."

On May 30, 1971, President and Mrs. Dooley received honorary Doctorates from Lincoln College for their years of service. A Doctor of Education and Doctor of Humanities were awarded respectively. In 1995, a new academic building was erected at Lincoln College and named to honor both Florence and Raymond Dooley. The family has requested that memorials in honor of Mrs. Dooley can be made to Lincoln College.

Meet the Office of Advancement In the next issue...Meet Admissions

Deb Ackerman
Vice President
for Institutional Advancement

Deb earned an A.A. from Lincoln College, a B.A. in Management from the University of Illinois at Springfield and an M.S.Ed from Illinois State University. She started at Lincoln College in 1999 as the Assistant Director of Alumni Relations and the Annual Fund. In 2002, she became the Executive Director of Alumni Relations and Dean of Advancement. In May 2006, she was named Vice President for Institutional Advancement. Deb collects Norman Rockwell figurines and snowmen. She loves the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cubs. And she can ride a unicycle!

Deb Shull Andrews
Creative Services
Manager

Deb graduated from Lincoln College with an A.A. She is currently working on her B.A. at the University of Illinois at Springfield. She started in a full-time data entry position at Lincoln College in October of 2000. She now serves as the Creative Services Manager collaborating with the Office of Advancement and campus-wide graphic design projects. Deb is also responsible for the new and improved layout and design for "The Lincoln Log." When she's not at Lincoln College, you'll find her with a paintbrush in hand or digging in the dirt! She can't wait for Spring.

Heather Miller
Coordinator for Annual Giving

Heather earned an A.A. from Lincoln College and is currently pursuing a B.A. from Lincoln College-Normal. She started working in the President's Office and the Office of Advancement as a student worker when she was going to school at LC. Since 2002, Heather has been working full time holding the position Annual Fund Assistant before taking on her current role. An enthusiastic Cardinals fan, Heather finds it hard to have time to watch the games. She is a relentlessly busy person who is always doing something at home or with her family. This girl never sits down!

Natalie Jeckel McGee
Director of Alumni Relations

Natalie earned an A.A. from Lincoln College, a B.A. from Millikin University, and an M.S.Ed. from Illinois State University. Her first job at Lincoln College was managing the Tutoring Office part time, in the fall of 1999. Four years later she returned to Lincoln College creating the department of Web Services. In August of 2005, she moved to the Office of Advancement, taking her current position. Natalie enjoys running, dancing and yoga. You might even find her going for a jog on campus after work.

Rick Samuels
Development Officer

Rick earned a B.S. from Chadron State College in Nebraska and an M.S. from Eastern Washington University. He started at Lincoln College in August of 2006. Rick has a vast knowledge of NCAA Division I school nicknames. This is probably because he was the head coach for Eastern Illinois University's men's basketball team for 25 years.

Laurie Trowbridge
Director of
Web Services

Laurie holds a B.A. from Russell Sage College and an M.S. from Illinois State University. She joined Lincoln College in 2006. She also has a knack for knitting.

Mary Jo Werth
Administrative Assistant

Mary Jo is a graduate of Taylorville High School and has worked for Lincoln College since 2001. She began working part time in the Office of Advancement doing data entry. In January 2002, she became full time and manages alumni data, processes gifts, and coordinates event registration. For the past 34 years she has been married to Ken. She insists, of course, that since they've been married that long they certainly must have married at a very young age! In her free time MJ enjoys reading, playing golf and fishing.

Lincoln Center Gift

Alum and former board chairman donates $500K

Lincoln College President John Hutchinson announced in August that Lincoln College received a major gift of $500,000 from the trust of James Johnson and the late Evelyn Johnson.

Johnson of Peoria, IL, grew up in the Lincoln area and is a 1933 graduate of Lincoln College. He served on the Lincoln College Board of Trustees from 1967 to 1992 and was the chairman from 1975 to 1978. He is also the former President of The First National Bank of Peoria.

“Lincoln College was an excellent experience for me. I graduated from high school when I was 16 and Lincoln College helped prepare me for my transition to the University of Illinois. I gave this gift because I want to be sure of Lincoln College’s continued progress and future success.”

James Johnson, Class of 1933

Johnson’s investment shows confidence in the institution and the current direction of the College. This contribution will be used as a lead gift in the “If It Hadn’t Been for Lincoln College...” comprehensive campaign currently underway.”

Hutchinson said the five-year comprehensive campaign will also provide endowment support for faculty development, the library, museum acquisitions, scholarships, and instructional technology at Lincoln College. Additional information about the “If It Hadn’t Been for Lincoln College...”

capital campaign is available by contacting Debbie Ackerman, Vice President for Institutional Advancement, at 877-522-5867 or dackerman@lincolncollege.edu.

Lincoln College - Normal Offers New Programs

Julie Marlatt, Director of Admissions and Marketing

Lincoln College - Normal begins 2007 with two new Bachelor Degree programs to offer students.

In addition to existing Bachelor Degree programs in Business Management and Liberal Arts, Lincoln College - Normal will now offer degrees in Criminal Justice Studies and Tourism, Sport, and Hospitality Management (TSH).

The TSH program includes concentrations in Travel and Tourism Management, Sports Management, Meeting, Incentive, Conference, and Exhibition (MICE), and Hospitality Management.

Additionally, Lincoln College - Normal is offering accelerated, hybrid, and online courses, as well as evening and weekend courses, to help accommodate the schedules of working students.

These new Bachelor Degree programs in Criminal Justice Studies and Tourism, Sport, and Hospitality Management show Lincoln College - Normal’s flexibility and commitment to the needs of Lincoln College students as well as their community.

For more information, contact the Lincoln College - Normal Office of Admissions at www.lincolncollege.edu/normal.
